events manager while Sara Conti has been pointed as Sales and Vip Lounge Manager .

Mauro Maiani completed the presentation by renewing his gratitude to the Tourism Minister for the support received throughout the Expo preparation phase and for the constructive spirit that he demonstrated in organizing the event, which is around the corner. "I am very proud to be here today to introduce my team. I have perceived from everyone an enthusiasm and a very strong commitment to the Expo project. For this reason I am sure that they will carry out their role in the Pavilion in their best way ".

The Minister Federico Pedini Amati, pleased with the knowledge of the new team, continues: "Despite the hard time with the pandemic situation, San Marino did not want to give up being part of this great appointment. It will in fact be an event of extraordinary importance for the development and competitiveness of the socio-economic systems severely affected by Covid19 and this will also allow our country and our companies to present their peculiarities in a world showcase involving more than 190 countries. We will be there and this makes us very proud ".

"A presence" - adds Commissioner Mauro Maiani - "decisive not only to relaunch tourism but also to increase the attraction of foreign capital towards territorial business chains, from large industry to start-ups, up to innovative and crafts with the aim of attracting the best international talents and skills to the State ".

At the end of the meeting, the Pavilion team renewed its thanks to the Minister for the trust shown in the Expo Project and proudly stated their intention to present the history of their country to the world and promote the image of San Marino through the creation of events and initiatives in order to attract not only new visitors but also thriving opportunities for matching and business with international partners.
